How To Order:

1. Select the model of radiator paying attention to restrictions such as window sills etc
2. Divide your required heat loss by the amount of watts your selected radiator offers in the chart above
3. Round this figure up to tell you how many sections are required (eg 15.66 would equal 16 sections)
4. Calculate the overall length using the formula below to make sure it fits the space
5. Should the radiator prove to be too long for the designated space then a taller option will need to be chosen
6. Calculate the price by multiplying the section cost in the chart above by the number of sections required
7. Should a factory painted colour version also be desired, please note the colour on the order
8. Should the radiator be over our maximum assembled size, a joining key must also be ordered on a Sale / Return basis. (Return cost is clients responsibility)
9. Place the order.
